Experience

Co-Founder | Front-End Developer | UI/UX | Project Manager
Sidekick, LLC October 2018 - Present

My role in the company is centered on the design and development of our web projects, however as with any small business, my hands are in nearly every project and area of responsibility. I am lucky enough to have the opportunity to gain more significant experience in financially running a business, being heavily involved in the sales process, being heavily involved in the cross-project decision making processes, and cultivating partnerships. My time running my own endeavor is an invaluable experience that few people get to experience and allows me to bring so many more skills and views to the table beyond that of an average developer.
